

It hasn't taken long for Worcestershire based Arcadia Roots Psychedelic, Voodoo Reggae Blues and funk-inflected sound to take the festival scene by storm.

Arcadia Roots music has been influenced by the band's extensive travels. Themes cover some current political and environmental concern's (fracking, trophy hunting, and religious indoctrination) to time-honoured topics such as love, lust and the search for meaning.

The power of the pounding Djembe rhythm, the driving back beat and hypnotic swirling guitars give Arcadia Roots music a spiritual and hypnotic quality that takes audiences on a musical journey.

This ritualistic journey is further enhanced in the music of the band's second album (taking it's title from one of their earliest written tracks and due for release in early 2020) where the band continue to develop their psychedelic voodoo blues vibe.

The band, who have been working musicians for many years, write all of their own music and their live performances can only be described as "Infectious" due to their ability to get the audience on their feet and moving to their root's rhythms.

Arcadia Roots was formed in late 2015.

Some highlights so far...

The band have shared the Glastonbury Festival Pilton-Party stage with Bastille and Declan McKenna, headlined the BBC stage at Lakefest alongside Aswad, Alabama 3 and The Charlatans, supported The Lightning Seeds at Tenbury 2018. Other 2018 festivals included main stage at Lakefest sharing the stage with the likes of The Darkness, The Green gathering, BOSfest and One Love 2018.

The jewel in the crown for 2018 Arcadia Roots was being invited to perform in front of an international audience at the John Bonham Memorial celebration in September 2018 where their dub version of Whole Lotta Love won over the die hard Zep fans.

The band currently have two EP's released and are releasing singles on the run up to their next full album.

Festivals performed at this year include Nostock, Jurassic Fields, The Green Gathering, Wychwood Festival (invited by BBC), Minety Festival and others as well as continuing to perform at venues throughout the UK.
